

	Full Name	Amparo Acker-Palmer
	Affiliation	Johann Wolfgang Goethe-University
	Position & Title	Full Professor – Chair Molecular and Cellular Neurobiology
EDUCATION & PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE
Institution/Location	Degree/Position (if applicable)	Completion Date (MM/YYYY)	Field of Study
Interdisciplinary Centre of Neuroscience Frankfurt (ICNF)	Director	01/2018 - present	Neuroscience
MPI for Brain Research, Frankfurt	Max Planck Fellow	06/2014 – present	Neuroscience
Goethe University Frankfurt	Full Professor	04/2011 – present	Molecular and Cellular Neurobiology
PERSONAL STATEMENT (AREAS OF RESEARCH INTERESTS)
Amparo Acker-Palmer studied biology at the University of Valencia in Spain and received her PhD in 1996. She received the Paul Ehrlich-und Ludwig Darmstädter-Prize for Young Researchers in 2010. She is a member of the German National Academy of Sciences Leopoldina, of the Academia Europaea, EMBO member, Max Planck Fellow at the Max Planck Institute for Brain Research and ERC Advanced Awardee. Her main research interests include understanding the role of the vasculature in the development of the nervous system, the so called “Neurovascular link”, and molecular mechanisms controlling the development and the maintenance of the Blood-Brain-Barrier.
POSITION & HONORS
2019 – 2024	Max Planck Fellow
2016 – 2020	ERC Advanced Grant
2015	EMBO Member
CONFLICT OF INTEREST AND FINANCIAL DISCLOSURE				